ALGAL BLOOMS

An algal bloom will make water appear slightly discolored, cloudy, or resemble pea soup or paint. Typically blue or green, water can also be brown or red and have a bad odor. Look for scum or a mat on the water surface or along the shoreline. When in doubt, stay out.

IF YOU'RE EXPOSED...

- Wash yourself with tap or bottled water
- If your pet swallows contaminated water, call your doctor or veterinarian
- If you have gastrointestinal symptoms, skin or eye irritation, and asthma-like breathing issues, contact a health care professional immediately
